Office of General Counsel

OGC HAS REVIEWED.

[REDACTED]

1. Attached hereto is a memorandum to you from this office dated 28 April 1953. In addition, there is a memorandum from Mr. [REDACTED] to the undersigned dated 8 May 1953. This case had been discussed with you previously.

2. It is believed that the two memoranda are essentially self-explanatory. However, I should like to advise the final action taken by the office in this case.

3. In view of the facts contained in the attached, the undersigned has advised [REDACTED] that my decision was that this office would not go forward with the arrangement which would have made him available for detail to the office. I advised [REDACTED] that in my opinion a most favorable view of the facts indicates that [REDACTED] actions included an error of judgment, careless statements, or excessive salesmanship. Under the circumstances, therefore, I believed it was to the best interests of all concerned, including [REDACTED] not to go forward with the arrangement.

4. The meeting with [REDACTED] at which this decision was given him, was unavoidably a brief few minutes. Therefore, I offered for his assistance and guidance to discuss the matter in detail with him.

5. At this time we consider the matter a closed incident and no further action will be taken. For your information, however, Mr. [REDACTED] has indicated that he may wish to take this matter up with the Inspector General.
